

BIBLICAL WOMANHOOD

I will be a woman of God

I belong to the King who calls me chosen, who calls me beloved, who calls me redeemed, who calls me treasured, who calls me His daughter, who calls me victorious, and who calls me crowned with purpose. I am not defined by my past, my pain, or people's opinions. I am defined by the One who formed me, forgave me, and filled me with His Spirit. I lack nothing and I am missing nothing. The crown I wear is not made of gold but made of grace. I will be a woman of God.

I will be a woman of HOLINESS

My heart, my mind, and my soul belong fully to God. Holiness isn't perfection; it's pursuit. I will choose purity over popularity, truth over trends, and character over compromise. I will walk in grace, not guilt. I will have peace that can't be shaken and joy that can't be hidden. MY words will heal, my actions honor, and my presence will point others to Jesus. I will be set apart not because I am better, but because I have been set apart for something greater. I am His. I will be a woman of Holiness.

I will be a woman of PURPOSE

As a woman of purpose my family is my highest earthly calling. My priorities are clear – My Savior first, my husband second, and my children next. I will be devoted to building a home of peace, not chaos. I will be faithful to my husband alone, honoring him with respect and standing beside him with grace. I will cover my home in prayer speaking life over my family and declare that nothing evil will prosper against us. My home belongs to the Lord and His protection surrounds us always. I will be a woman of purpose.

I will be a woman of REPENTANCE

When I sin and I will; I will be quick to humble my heart before the Lord. I will turn from that sin and seek God's mercy. I will rise up again and keep moving forward with confidence. I will Let Gods word reshape my thoughts, guide my steps, and guard my heart. God's forgiveness in my life is my legacy. My children and generations to come will rise up and call me blessed. I am and woman of repentance.

I WILL BE A WOMAN OF GOD.
